

Now is the Time

to Plan Your Deck Renovation

Outdoor weather may seem far off, but it will be here before you know it. Would you like a great deck for entertaining but are reluctant because of the upkeep it requires? Trex is the answer! Most qualified contractors book renovation projects months in advance, so now is the time to schedule with a TrexPro contractor. As a certified TrexPro contractor, Rasinski Construction installs decks for homeowners throughout Ocean and Monmouth County.

TrexPro Deck Builders complete installation and product training on all Trex products and must successfully meet requirements to obtain the TrexPro designation. So, you can be assured that we are experienced with Trex products and can build your dream outdoor space. Don't hesitate, plan today!

What is Trex?

Trex decking is imitation wood made from recycled materials compiled from reclaimed wood and recycled plastic film like overwrap on paper towels, dry cleaner bags, sandwich bags and more. Trex invented composite decking as a wood alternative in 1996 and is the industry's leader still today.

We Installed a Trex Deck for a Family in Jackson to Expand Their Entertainment Space

New homeowners in Jackson, NJ, envisioned a maintenance-free entertaining space in their backyard. They also desired to improve access to their home from the backyard space, which was hindered by builder-grade steps that were extremely steep and rotting.

Our Jackson client was thrilled with their final Trex deck. They're looking forward to using the space to entertain family and friends.

As all new homeowners, this Jackson family had a specific budget. Following our consultation and examination of the current backyard area, our team had every confidence that we could deliver what the client wanted on budget. Because we are a TrexPro Contractor, we were able to offer this homeowner a variety of deck solutions to meet their needs.

We designed a rectangular-shaped deck to maximize the pre-determined lengths available in Trex decking. By suggesting this configuration, we optimized both space and cost by eliminating product waste. Also, in the event they want to expand the deck as their family grows, we can simply add on to the existing structure without disturbing the decking layout; thereby, making it look seamless.

This Jackson family is no longer challenged by limited entertainment space and thanks to their new Trex deck, they don't have to ever worry about its maintenance or durability.

“Tom Rasinski and his crew were great! Always on time and always available to answer my many questions and the quality of workmanship was exceptional! I would recommend them without hesitation for any home improvement job!” - Jacqueline K.

2019 Home Remodeling Trends

A new year brings new inspiration - two of those inspirations being Pantone's Color of the Year and the fashion runway. Keep an eye on those two influencers and others to discover what home renovation trends will be hot - and not - in the year 2019.

Top 2019 Predicted Trends

Pantone's Color of the Year

For 2019, Pantone's Color of the Year is Living Coral 16-1546, an energetic but mellow, warming color. This shade reconnects us to nature, authenticity, and human interaction. The year 2018 was inundated with cool grays when it came to home design. However, gray may now become a thing of the past and it is predicted that warmer tones, like Living Coral, will now be used from wall colors to textiles and accessories.

Home Remodeling is Getting a Breath of Fresh Air

Warmer tones are not the only theme trending. Nature is emerging in home design and remodeling - from organic materials and eco-friendly appliances to natural, earthy color palettes. Materials such as wood, stone, iron, copper and concrete will be utilized for flooring, walls and accent pieces, along with earthy matte finishes instead of high gloss paint to bring warmth and reconnect us with nature.

Floral Patterns

Runway fashion is currently sporting a lot of floral, which points toward this emerging as a renewed fashion trend and influencer in home furnishing and remodeling designs as well. Meaning floral patterns and your grandmother's wallpaper will make their comeback into home renovations this year!

Whether you love these new natural and warm renovation ideas, or have a few of your own, the most important first step is to select and work with a trusted home remodeling contractor.
